

Official April Mint Report Given

The official report of the coinage for April by the Philadelphia and Denver Mints will be found on page 18 of this issue of Coin World and is presented in the new cumulative pattern which has had such a favorable response from subscribers.

As reported unofficially in the May 19 issue of Coin World, the official statement from the Treasury Department shows that the Philadelphia mint concentrated upon cents and proof sets for the month of April with over 14 million cent pieces plus 161,023 proof sets.

Coin World is seeking to provide more information on the production record of the U. S. mints and is also presenting figures giving a comparison with the same months of a year ago. This brings the material to subscribers as fast as it is released from the department.

The figures on the coinage of the two mints will be given to Coin World readers as early in the following months as possible. Weekly publication of a coin newspaper makes this information available sooner than has been the record in the past.

Commemorative Half Dollar Is N. J. Club Aim

A commemorative half dollar to mark the 300th anniversary of the founding of New Jersey in 1664 is the dream of the Camden County Coin club.

Once again the members turn their attention to this project now that their observance of National Coin club week is past.

Washington officials give the organization little encouragement, according to Collingswood's Chad Schuck, who is a member of the club's commemorative coin committee.

But it is hoped, he said, that such a medal will be authorized by the Camden club expected to underwrite the cost and act as selling agent.

Various service organizations such as the Lions, Rotary and Kiwanis clubs will be asked to join the coin club to assist financially.

The Camden County Coin club meets the last Monday of each month at Camden's Hotel W a l t Whitman.

Hawaiian Statehood Medal Released

Chosen to commemorate the fiftieth state's admittance to the union, an illustration of the official Hawaiian statehood medal taken from plaster casts is shown above. The medals, which are being struck in bronze silver and gold, are 2 1/2 inches in diameter.

Medallic Art Executes Design By Anargyros

The Hawaiian statehood medal commemorating admittance to the union was released for sale to the public May 20.

Adopted by the Hawaiian legislature on Oct. 22, 1959, to commemorate the new fiftieth state, the medal was authorized by a Senate resolution.

The official medal is being struck by the Medallic Art Company, New York, from a design by Spero Anargyros of San Francisco.

National distribution of the medal is being handled by Coin and Currency Institute, Inc. of New York and California.

Major design — with added touches such as a fish and lei for artistic balance — were provided for in the legislative action.

Struck in gold, silver and bronze, the medals are domed on one side and are 2 1/2 inches in diameter.

The inscription around the border of the obverse reads "State of Hawaii" and the Hawaiian motto "Ua Mau Ke Ea O Ka Aina I Ka Pono" meaning "The life of the land is perpetuated by righteousness." In the center is the Hawaiian coat of arms flanked by two figures with the sun rising from behind with 1959 above it.

Shown on the reverse is a map of the islands, Niihau, Kauai, Oahu, Molokai, Lanai, Maui, Kahoolawe and Hawaii. Above them is the compass points. Below the islands are the words "Hawaii 50th State" encompassed by a lei with a fish jumping from the water as the side. Around the border is the inscription "The Aloha State August 21, 1959".

Striking of the Alaskan statehood medal was also done by the Medallic Art Company who is also known for executing official medals for Presidential Inaugurations.

"Silver medals are limited," said William T. Louth, vice president of Medallic Art Company "to 2,500 serially numbered issues." They are struck in sterling silver of .916 2-3 fineness and sell for $30.

Weighing about seven ounces, the gold medal is executed in 21.6 karat gold or .900 fineness. Its cost is $850 per medal and is limited to 100 serially numbered medals.

Bronze medals are available for $4 plus 15 cents shipping and handling charges in an unlimited number.

Smaller sums are indicated by round chips in the same color.

Coin Agent Still Missing

Washington, D. C. — The Federal Bureau of Investigation has no plans at this time to enter the case of the disappearing coin dealers' agent, Coin World learned in an exclusive interview with FBI Special Agent H. P. Leinbaugh at his Washington office.

Special Agent Leinbaugh told Coin World investigation still remains in the hands of the Washington police as they attempt to trace Daniel J. McBride, 31-year-old Atlanta, Ga., coin dealer agent, missing since May 2 with $15,000 in cash.

If federal intervention becomes necessary, the FBI will alert Coin World, Leinbaugh promised.

"You see, I am familiar with your publication," the FBI man said warmly. "My son is a very, very interested collector."

He said a Washington newspaper in a late news story located McBride in a tavern several hours after he was reported last seen.

Police today are continuing to seek the whereabouts of the 31-year-old Atlanta, Ga., coin dealer after he disappeared into thin air in Washington.

Daniel J. McBride, who had $15,000 in cash with him at the time, left his checkbook, his luggage and most of his clothing at the Hotel Washington.

A bridegroom of six months with an excellent reputation among his business associates, McBride failed to claim money or

Kansas City, Mo. — Dealer Don Joslin of this city today watched developments in the McBride case with an anxious eye—he said he is holding a $3,500 check issued to him by McBride — and returned — without payment — by a Kansas city bank.

Joslin said he sold a complete roll set of Jefferson nickels for $3,500 to McBride on May 1 at the Central States Numismatic Society's convention in Detroit.

He accepted McBride's check in payment for the nickels.

"I have reason to believe McBride sold the set before he left the convention," Joslin added.

Others totaling $6,000 waiting for him at the hotel.

His Washington mission was to buy $2400 worth of new cents for Raymond Kotansky, a Streator, Ill., coin dealer.

Capt. Michael J. Mahaney, Washington Missings Persons bureau, has instituted a widespread search for McBride.

Assistant U. S. Attorney W. Frank Stickle Jr. said McBride had, he believed, $15,000 wired to him by an Illinois coin dealer when he vanished.

"It looks like there might be foul play involved," Stickle said. "He had a very good reputation and if he'd intended to run out, it doesn't seem as if he would have left his suitcase with all his clothes in it behind.

"He used to call his wife every night when he was on the road but the calls stopped when he came to Washington."

Hotel officials said McBride apparently never slept in his room. They added that his room showed no signs of struggle.

Mrs. McBride has hired a private detective to aid police in their search.

New Netherlands Auction Sets Trends

An auction sale, particularly strong in early U. S., gold and Canadian coins, was conducted by New Netherlands Coin Co. in New York City on the week end of April 23.

"The sale was a numismatic barometer," said John J. Ford, a partner in the coin firm, commenting for numismatists who watch for coin trends.

"This sale featured rare coins," he said, emphasizing the words "rare coins."

"It was advertised as the one sale with nothing for the roll or bag investor crowd."

The two session sale attracted many Canadian collectors to the Hotel New Weston. A quantity of

During the year, the club has a family picnic for members, National Coin Week displays and the responsibility of the Oklahoma-Kansas Numismatic Association convention, in October.

There are 102 adult members and 12 junior members. Meetings are held the first and third Thursdays of each month in the basement of the Reno County Courthouse at 7:30 p.m.

There is an annual Christmas party and election of officers in December.

President of the club is Earl M. Siebert. Other officers are: Richard Cooper, vice president; Thomas Pollock, treasurer; Mrs. Raymond Billingsly, secretary; and Mrs. L. A. Withroder, librarian.

Gleams, Glows Highlight Pierce Treasure Happenings

A press party for more than $200,000 worth of gold coins — the Stanley R. Pierce treasure trove — held at the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust Co. in Chicago was a glittering success! The gleams were in the eyes of the reporters, most of whom had never seen 6,058 $20 double eagle gold pieces with a face value of $121,160.

The glows will come from University of Chicago officials after the coins are sold. Pierce, a widower, left everything — a million dollar estate — to the school from which he graduated in 1914.

Mint dates on the double eagles range from 1850, the first year such coins were issued, to 1928.

Coins from all but 12 of the intervening years are included in the collection. Double eagles were last minted in 1932.

Experts said all of the coins were in good condition, but those dated from 1924 to 1928 were "almost uncirculated or uncirculated." (Some of these could bring $400 each.)

Appraisals of individual coins ranged from a low of $33 each for 3,971 pieces dated 1897, 1900-S, 1904, 1911-D, 1913-D and 1928 to a high of $325 each for three 1921 pieces.

One appraisal of the 1924-1928 coins, described as "almost uncirculated or uncirculated," placed each coin worth $400.

The bank is the executor of the estate; it will probably sell the coins at a public auction or in a unit to a private purchaser.

"If we can get a good offer from an individual coin collector we will sell them to him," said Pierce's attorney, Jack A. Diamond. He revealed he already had been approached by several private collectors.

Pierce had buried the coins — held in waterproof containers, encased in cloth bags — beneath some small fruit trees in the back yard of his Mt. Prospect, Ill., home.

He kept a slip in his desk containing the combination to a safe, located in an outbuilding. It was in this safe his attorney found a memorandum telling the location of the gold.

The bank, as executor of the estate of the 67-year-old retired commodity broker, started digging! Pierce died last Christmas day.

Club's Auction Proceeds Goes To Red Cross

An auction with proceeds going to the Red Cross was one of the highlights of the New Jersey Numismatic Society session held at the Newark Military Park Hotel. President George Wait officiated at the meeting which featured a review of the recent Metropolitan New York Numismatic Convention; the New Jersey club was one of the sponsoring organizations.

Wait reported a 25 per cent increase in the banquet guests.

Bill Wild, vice president of the Brooklyn Coin Club, and grand prize winner at the New York convention, was a guest with Jack Nannery, president of the Brooklyn club.

A discussion of supposedly new cent varieties, exhibits and a white elephant sale were other club items of business, according to James A. Brown, secretary-treasurer.

The Romance of MONEY

By Ted R. Hammer

Many collectors over the country have developed their own specialties in Numismatics. Charles E. Tuckwood, Philadelphia, for instance, collected a series of coins associated with early Christian history.

Tuckwood visited a coin shop one day some years ago and saw a curious coin — a denarius of Caesar Augustus. He not only purchased it, but studied the newest specimen in his cabinet. Caesar Augustus was emperor at the time of the birth of Christ. One of the first things Tuckwood learned was the most Roman Empire coins bore the likeness and name of the current ruler.

The denarius was the usual payment at the time for a day's labor—not much else is known about its denomination. It was the type of coin used to pay one's head tax and probably was used by Joseph when he and Mary went to Bethlehem to be taxed.

Tuckwood's collection contains many coins mentioned in Jesus' teachings. Remember the parable of the lost coin? The woman with 10 coins loses one—she finds it and expresses joy to her neighbors. "Like, I say unto you, there is joy in the presence of the angels of God over one sinner that repenteth," the Lord said. Tuckwood lists the drachma as one of the 10 pieces of silver referred to, but other authorities consider it a denarius.

Such a collection certainly must have a widow's mite. Many types of these were in circulation and the price is low today, considering the historical relations.

Some authorities feel that among gold presented to the infant Jesus were gold coins, which soon would be needed during the flight to Egypt.

Certain of the Pharisees were sent to Christ to "trip him up," so to speak, in asking his views on the tribute to Caesar. The tribute penny shown to Jesus likely was a silver denarius with the image and superscription of Tiberius Caesar who reigned 14 A.D. to 37 A.D.

And such a collection certainly should include the coin of Pontius Pilate, an interesting example of Judean money. "This to me is the most interesting coin in my collection," said Tuckwood in writing of his specialty.

Ancient Coin Price Drop Leads To Hoard Discovery

A thudding drop in prices of ancient Greek and Roman coins in Jerusalem... a secret religion... a sheik... an earthenware jug—all first-class ingredients for a movie thriller or a television plot deluxe—are involved in a numismatic dispatch from the Holy Land.

The sharp fall in prices of 2,000-year-old Greek and Roman coins in the Jerusalem, Israeli sector, market led to the discovery of what may be the largest hoard ever located in that area.

The Israeli government's department of antiquities launched the initial investigation into the reason for the drop in prices from $7 a coin to less than half that amount.

They found a silent but smart peasant, an Arabic-speaking member of the Druze sect which has its own secret religion, with a profitable business.

The man refused to even tell his name at first, but Sheikh Labib Abu Roukun, a Druze Parliament member living in the village, persuaded him to speak.

The peasant said he was Akel Khmdan but that he had been disposing of 70 coins inherited from his father; later he told police he found two earthenware jugs filled with silver coins in a field.

He said he had sold about one-third of the coins, but stopped when prices dropped so drastically.

Exact number of the coins Akel Khmdan found will probably never be established because hundreds of them have already disappeared into private collections.

The coins were found 38 miles south of the great Phoenician commercial center of Tyre where they were minted. The village rests atop Mt. Carmel near the city of Haifa.

The thousands of coins may have belonged to a very rich Tyrian merchant, according to one expert, who may have buried them for safekeeping before going on a voyage from which he never returned.

While the coins are not necessarily rare, no hoard of such great size has been uncovered in modern-day history.

Platinum coins were minted in Russia between 1828 and 1845.

Alertness Worth $700

A "counterfeit" $100 bill bought for $5 is now worth more than $700, all because a Calgary, Alberta, Canada, coin dealer and his wife were alert!

During "1959 stampede week" in Calgary, a U.S. tourist offered to sell the L'Herauld's a $100 bill issued by the Imperial bank before the Bank of Canada assumed printing rights in 1935. The price was $5.

The bill was punched void and counterfeit, but L'Herauld took it to a Calgary bank for re-examination and it was pronounced genuine.

(A U.S. bank had marked it counterfeit because it did not resemble current Canadian bills.) "This is the best buy of my career," L'Herauld said.

It was the featured exhibit at the Calgary coin show.

Steven Bibler Wins Festival Grand Prize

Steven Bibler, Seattle, Wash., guest speaker at the Bellingham Coin Club's Blossom Festival exhibit in Washington, won the grand prize with his display of depression currency. Bibler is an honorary member of the club.

Bibler's talk was on the same subject — depression money—and he discussed the stabilization of economy by states and communities with special depression issues.

He illustrated his talk with such items as paper money of the Confederate States, Chamber of Commerce and American Legion money, wheat scrip and wooden money.

Other prize winners, according to club president Jubal V. Jorgenson, were:

Palmer C. Lee, Bellingham, first place and blue ribbon, collection of U. S. coins; H. B. Haberstroh, of Canada, blue ribbon and first place; Gordon Medcalf, Bellingham, red ribbon and second place, ancient and foreign coins; Bob Eberle, Canada, blue ribbon and first place, Canadian coins; Harry Lumpert, Sedro Woolley, special award for large U. S. coins.

Howard Stains, Sumas customs officer and collector, was master of ceremonies for the banquet at Doric Bellingham hotel where 80 guests — 20 of them from Canada — were present.

Friday. It was originally scheduled for Saturday morning; Canadian, U. S., and related coins and tokens will be included the first session.

Foreign crowns, essays, minor coins, etc. will be sold at the second session, 1:20 p.m. Saturday.

The third session, which includes Russian proofs, patterns, novodels; foreign mint errors, coins of the Napoleonic period and family; foreign proofs; English shillings and ancient coins will be sold by mail bid only. Closing date for those bids will be May 30.

John J. Pittman is general chairman of the convention. He will be assisted by Edwin Quagliana as exhibits chairman and Robert Ogg, bourse chairman.

He discloses the nickels are five cents each plus postage. The Sesquicentennial Headquarters is located on Main street in Washington.

Theme of the observance with Washington's location at junctions of important road routes is "Crossroads To the Future."

Letter From —

PORE-OLE-BROKE-BROCK.

Hello, nice people. This letter is to let you old timers know I'm still around, and to introduce myself to you new collectors who never heard of Broke-Brock. So broke I can't afford a big ad often - but I hope to be back in the classified with a little something each week. I know that being broke is not unusual - anybody who loves Coins, Stamps, Books or any hobby (even women) is always broke. The unusual thing is that I am the only one who will admit it. If the late John Beresford Tipton would send me a check for a million dollars, I believe I could be back overdrawn at the bank in two weeks.

That takes care of the broke part - Now the OLD part. I have been a full time stamp, coin & book dealer for over 30 years. I know I am getting old because I am beginning to recall the past. I have lost the family fortune four times in crashes on things that just couldn't go down. 1st - Commemorative half dollars, 2nd - Unc. rolls, 3rd - Mint sheets of U. S. stamps, 4th - Mint sheets of Foreign stamps from Mexico, Israel, San Marino & Ghana. Nearly a million dollars down the drain. I wish I could write a book about the mistakes I made, it might shock some sense into some of our new investors who like lambs are being taken down the primrose path. I liked the recent comment of one coin writer who said coin shows may soon be held on the parking lot of a super-mrkt. Everybody will come in station wagons loaded with bags of Unc. coins. They would just line up, let down the tailgates and start selling.

SO - about six months ago I decided to welcome the SELLING SIXTIES. Prices may go up to the skies - but I'm too old to come back from another crash - so I would like to cash in - buy a nice home, build a swimming pool, buy a new car, take my wife on a nice vacation, our first in 23 years. We found the house - so I sent out a list of rolls at terrible prices - but we raised the money in seven days. I sold too cheap - but no regrets - we are in. If we had the Coin World with the wonderful page by Jim Kelly we could have sold for twice as much money. Well enough oldtimer talk. Let's sell a few rolls: All Unc.

Everything Postpaid & Insured. No orders under $10.00 please.

1c	1956-D $3.00; 1957-D $2.25; 1959-D 75c.
5c	1946-D $10.00; 1954-S $10.00; 1956-P $7.50; 1956-D $5.50; 1957-D $4.50; 1959-D $2.50.
10c	1943-D $15.00; 1945-D $16.50; 1955-P $35.00; 1955-D $30.00; 1955-S $23.50.
25c	1944-D $25.00; 1945-D $17.50; 1945-S $25.00; 1948-P $15.00; 1948-D $15.00; 1949-D $17.50; 1955-D $31.00; 1956-P $14.00.
50c	1952-D $15.50; 1954-D $14.50; 1954-S $16.50; 1955-P $22.50; 1956-P $15.00.
Proof sets:	1957 $4.50; 1959 $4.50.

Although I have quantity on some of the above rolls, no further discounts on bulk purchases from this ad. So save your long distance calls. Besides, I'm a country boy and long distance calls irk me. I always know I am about to get hooked by some city slicker whenever I get a long distance call. Recently I got sweet talked over the phone and sold 200 1953-D nickel rolls @ $4.00, and 200 rolls 1953-S nickels @ $7.50 to a dealer who said - "Help me out ole-buddy" - I should have told him "Nuts to you".

Try Collecting Medals

"I don't collect medals because I can't spend em! They're not money," one collector was telling another in a conversation we overheard at a coin meeting.

"Well, how many times have you spent coins from your collection?" answered his friend in rebuttal.

The issuance of the new Hawaiian statehood medal brings to mind that collectors are missing a good thing by not collecting medals. Here is a series that has all the allure of coins, except they are, indeed, not money. Medals have many characteristics all their own — advantages that far outweigh the fact they are not money.

Dick Johnson

The most prominent fact is that the designer and sculptor is not limited — he has a wide range of techniques and generally is not limited by a size or production problems. Since medals are seldom mass-produced they can incorporate finer detail in the design. The artistic effect on most medals is outstanding.

Would the fact that the government authorizes a medal interest you collectors of money only? We have a news story working what will point out more medals were authorized by Congress last year than for the previous ten years! Issuing medals is by no means new to Congress, but they have given us more recently.

Best of all, government medals can be purchased from a source well familiar to collectors and proof coin buyers: the U.S. Mint. They have a stock of medals for sale that includes beauties that were designed 150 years ago and still available today. The list of medals for sale is free, but the Mint stipulates medals are not to be resold for profit.

I was talking with Bill Louth of Medallie Art Company recently and learned his company makes medals for hundreds of private firms every year. These are not available directly to collectors but would make excellent collectors' items if obtained from some friend of the issuing firm. "Medals are issued in limited numbers," Bill says, "far more limited than coins — they are harder to get."

Bill talks of modeling techniques, surface treatments, high and low reliefs, texture treatment — it's fascinating listening to him. And I couldn't help but get interested in medals and medal collecting. The Medallie Art Company issued the Santa Fe, Mexico, medal recently, and both the Alaska and Hawaii statehood medals.

Now what Medallie Art Company does in a big way, Bob McNamara does in a small way in his Heraldic Art company. Bob has a medal press which he operates himself striking commemorative medals in sterling silver similar to commemorative half dollars. Here's a fellow who helps design the medal — no more than three a year — sees the dies made, and strikes them himself. What could be more fun? And his medals are superb quality displaying real craftsmanship. Next time you run into Bob at a convention have him tell you his interesting story!

Another numismatist who gets a lot of fun out of medals is Clifford Mishler, Vandalia, Mich. He attempts to obtain every commemorative medal and token as they are issued and describe them in his catalog every year. He worked out a numbering system whereby he can assign a four-part number to identify every medal by this designation.

I have used Cliff's 1958 catalog many times and look forward to the 1959 (and succeeding!) editions. The one disadvantage about medal collecting is its literature. There is no one catalog of medals and the information on them is scattered in perhaps several hundred books. If someone is working on a complete medal catalog project let me know. Coin World will co-operate.

There are hundreds of medals issued every year: centennial, commemorative, honorary, award, governmental, private; for both connoisseur and collector. I know I will not be able to interest the roll collector in medals, but maybe some numismatists have been overlooking this field. Don't anymore — it's fascinating.

Letters To The Editor

I want to give you a bit of comment on your editorial "Mr. Howard's Edict." From January to April 15 every year I help quite a number of persons with their income tax returns. It is always the same people, year after year, who wait until the last few days to file. These same people wait until Friday or Saturday to get a hair cut when the barbers are busiest instead of early in the week.

There will always be these same "Johnny - come - latelies" who never seem to do the right thing at the right time. Those are the same ones who will do most of the hollering because they didn't send in for their proof sets in the first six months.

Milton Goldsmith
Greenville, Pa.

Enclosed is my advertising contract for a year and a full page ad. Let me say that I find your newspaper on coins the most interesting of all coin publications and that I wish you the best success in the future.

Louis Arpin
Stanbridge East, Que.

I have just returned from a seven months trip to the South Pacific and found out about your new coin paper. I think this paper has done more for dealers and collectors in the four weeks of publishing than others have in years. Here's my subscription. How about a life subscription?

Jack A. Wallace
San Diego, Calif.

(Editor's Note — We have been too busy with growing pains to attempt to set a life subscription service. However, we will announce this when ever we can get a chance to set some policy on it!)

Your name and address are on our mailing list for the monthly newsletter and we hope you enjoy it. The Victoria Numismatic Society sends our sincere wishes for your success.

Mrs. Gladys Brown, Sec.
Victoria, B. C.

I have found your Coin World to be very interesting. We have had nothing but good comments from the Coffeyville Coin Club members.

Francis Grillot, Pres.
Coffeyville, Kans.

Congratulations on a fine job, I especially like the "classified" classified ads and the grammatically perfect style. Keep up the good work, it's a pleasure to read such a fine paper. To show you I mean it, here's my subscription and four classified ads!

Alan Hogenauer
New York City

Please enter my subscription. I plan to let some of my coin publication subscriptions go when they are out but I feel your weekly paper with its trends of coin values alone is worth the price of a subscription.

Also I don't have to read pages of ads to find the one or two items I want. Your classifications are just what I need. I can look at the several ads under the proper classification to find the particular coin.

Paul Munson
Laramie, Wyo.

Coin World is the greatest! I have never seen so much enthusiasm over any one numismatic publication before.

Harry G. McAdams
Kansas City, Mo.

We at Western Coin Journal were very happy to see you start your weekly Coin World. In perusing the sample copies which we have received, you are off to a fine start and should be a complete success in a short time.

Seems like you have a rugged schedule to meet for we spend the time between monthly issues of the Western Coin Journal searching for material, attending club meetings and just going in circles! Don't think I'd care to tackle a weekly!

If all the new coin publication serve no other purpose than to awaken the public and the older publications, then they will have well served their purpose. In recent years, the advent of the newer coin publications have created a great deal of interest in numismatics.

Like any other nationwide hobby, whether it be baseball or numismatics, new blood will create new interest and new collectors. And new collectors create demands, both for dealers and for publications. We extend our best wishes for the success of Coin World!

Mrs. N. E. Wilson
Moorpark, Calif.

I have put off writing this letter long enough. Coin World is the paper for which all of us have been waiting. I am happy to become a charter subscriber because somehow I felt that this was it.

I particularly like the very newsy paper which you publish because this is one paper that I do not lose interest in before I can get a chance to finish it. The very prompt delivery is a champion feature which is something I do not find in other papers in our field.

James J. McQuillan
New York City

Your baby looks like it is going places and you could hardly pick better footsteps to follow in than those of the eminent George W. Linn. I especially like the historic morsels and articles of off and unusual facts, finds of hoards, etc. pertaining to numismatology of times of yore.

Through the medium of Charlton's Canadian catalog I learned the true value of a Canadian dime which I reluctantly took 30 years ago as a tip for a grocery delivery—I didn't want it because "it was Canadian." Somehow this lowly dime managed to stay with me. It is, of course, the "Round Top 3" and my eyes did pop!

Arcadian Fluck
Van Etten, N.Y.

Enclosed is my check to what I honestly believe is going to be the nation's finest numismatic publication — Coin World — and I get them all! My free subscription is going to the Youngstown Numismatic Club auction chairman to be used as a guide in pricing material submitted for our monthly auction.

George Smith
Youngstown, O.

Congratulations on your fine, informative paper. We've received the sample copies so it's high time to send in our subscription. The 2 Joe De Bock's Chico, Calif.

Your page of coin trends is wonderful for me. I am just a small dealer and it used to be that I'd have to search and search for prices of BU coins but now I can find it in a few seconds in Coin World. Your idea of weekly publication is a "gift" to us small dealers who can't afford to hold large amounts of coins for very long.

Your coin trends is the greatest new idea in the whole numismatic field and that covers a lot of ground! I shall be a paid subscriber as long as I am in coins. The idea of printing it in classified form is also a tremendous

U. S. Funds Present Problems For Canadians

Ottawa, Canada — A slump in Canadian interest rates plus a decrease in financing in the United States by private and public agencies in Canada were today blamed for a drop in the value of the Canadian dollar in terms of United States currency.

The value fell to the lowest level in more than a year — foreign exchange dealers quoted it as $1.-02 13-16 in United States currency, down 13-64 from the close of $1.03 1-64 May 10.

It has been declining steadily for a six-week period, according to trade experts.

Canadian banks announced recently they would charge an additional two per cent on deposits of U.S. coins totaling more than one dollar, resulting in headaches for many coin machine vendors.

Few coin machines—including pay telephones—are constructed to tell the difference between U.S. and Canadian coins.

Some Toronto stores and restaurants immediately declared U.S. coins worthless after the directive was announced. Merchants posted prominent notices that they would no longer accept U.S. coins.

The bank's two per cent discount is to be in addition to the regular discount of about three and one half cents on the paper dollar.

Most stores charged two cents on a U.S. quarter and one cent on dimes and nickels to solve the problem.

Sorting the coins is a project, too. Rod-shaped magnets are waved over mounds of U.S. and Canadian nickels at some banks—the Canadian coins respond with their steel content. The remaining non-magnetic U.S. nickels are sacked and sent to Seattle.

One banker said a recent $16,000 shipment of U.S. coins to Seattle cost $98 in handling charges.

The British Columbia Telephone Co. estimates it lost $2,000 a month in discounts on U.S. coins.

Action of the Canadian banks in enforcing an old regulation calling for an additional two per cent discount is aimed at restricting the activity of the Canadian profiteers by curtailing possibility of coin speculation.

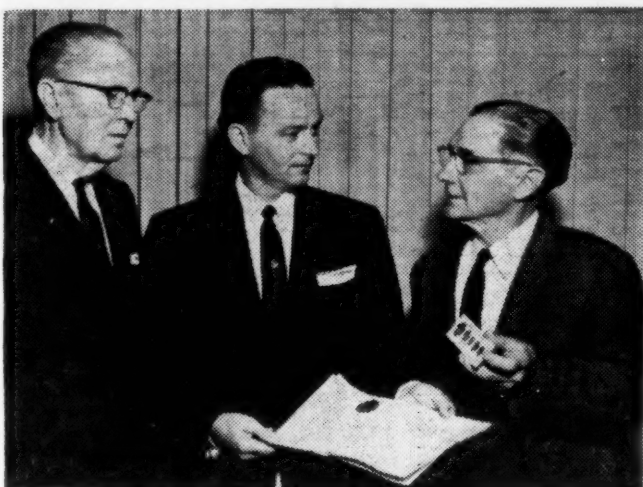

Canadian entrepreneurs have acquired thousands of dollars of American coins in the United States, put them into circulation and reaped a handsome profit.

The banks said they would enforce the two per cent charge because it represented their "break-even" cost of wrapping, handling and shipping the coins to the United States.

Alan Field, director of the Canadian government's travel bureau, and John Fisher, executive director of the Canadian Tourist Association, are concerned at the announcement just prior to the big tourist season.

Americans just won't be able to understand why their change isn't good," said one Vancouver businessman.

However, Canadians have resented the fact that their money, even when it became more valuable than its United States counterpart because of the heavy U.S. investment money flowing into Canada, was seldom accepted graciously in the United States.

Mayor Receives Proof Set

Kalvart K. Tidwell, (right) vice president of the Waco Heart O' Texas Coin Club, is shown here presenting a 1960 proof set to Waco's mayor, Dr. Billy J. Hinton, (center) as L. L. Edmonds, secretary-treasurer of the club, looks on approvingly. Mayor Hinton issued an official Coin Week proclamation for the city of Waco, urging the citizens to join in the observance.

Arkansas Numismatic Society To Hear Counterfeit Discussion

A display of counterfeit bills and a discussion of the subject by Leroy Letteer, special agent, U. S. Treasury Department, will be one of the features of the Arkansas Numismatic Society meeting, to be held May 29 at the Albert Pike Hotel in Little Rock.

Ed Leaming, president of the group, is chairman of the 13th annual convention. He will be assisted by Bill Hackett, vice president; Cecil Ball, treasurer, and M r s. J. P. Willis, secretary.

Seven Arkansas Coin Clubs will participate—Little Rock, Camden, Magnolia, El Dorado, Texarkana, Fort Smith and Newport.

Matt Rothert, of Camden, Ark., will be the auctioneer, according to Dr. J. R. Luten Jr., who is arranging this feature. There will also be dealer tables and exhibits.

Officers for 1960-61 will be elected at the board meeting.

Passaic Club Holds Auctions Periodically

Periodic coin auctions are held on meeting nights of the Passaic County Numismatic Club, Clifton, New Jersey. There is a club library. The installation banquet is held on the first Wednesday of February, each year.

The club, established in 1955 on February 24th, has its own library. There are 41 regular members who meet on the first Wednesday of each month 8 p.m. at Johnny's Grill, 110 Akerman avenue, Clifton.

Officers are elected in February. Carl Pannicke is president; Emil Minkovich, Lodi, vice president; and Joseph E. DeGhetto, Clifton, secretary-treasurer.

The first hard time token was issued in 1833.

Investment Market Shows Strength

By Jim Kelly

333 W. First St., Dayton 2, Ohio
There was no let-down in business at the recent Metropolitan

New York Convention which I attended in New York City. As a matter of fact, the "wheeling and dealing" between dealers has seldom been more active. The investment market (uncirculated rolls and proofs sets) was quite active and several things point to the fact that it may continue for quite some time at the present level—or higher. Most of the purchases were ending up in the hands of the big investor.

Smaller lots were being sold by the collectors or dealers to middle men who, in turn, were buying for these big investors. This indicates that the coins are going into strong hands and there is very little likelihood that they will become distressed merchandise and dumped on the market, causing a serious decline in price.

There is an axiom in the stock market — "when the public gets in, it is time to get out." The reverse of which applies to the coin market. The heavy buying in coin investment is by professionals who have ample finances and know exactly what they are doing.

This is my analysis of the market and does not constitute a recommendation to either buy or sell. We will continue to report the market that exists and not be influenced in any way to help make or stimulate it.

Thanks for your many compliments and comments. Any and all information is appreciated and helpful in making this the most accurate report possible.

Jim Kelly

A Word Or Two Of Explanation

Since we have many readers who are just starting to collect rolls, for their information may we point out that a roll of cents contains 50 pieces with a face value of 50c; a roll of nickels contains 40 pieces with a face value of $2.00; a roll of dimes contains 50 pieces with a face value of $5.00; a roll of quarters contains 40 pieces with a face value of $10.00; a roll of halves contains 20 pieces with a face value of $10.00.

The condition for singles and rolls quoted is standard brilliant uncirculated. Mint sets are quoted in brilliant uncirculated condition, and contain the proper number of coins available from the indicated mint for that year. Proof sets are special condition (proof or mirror surface made only at the Philadelphia mint) and contain one coin of each denomination.

'What's My Coin' Fete Scheduled

An interesting innovation of the television show "What's My Line" will be presented at the June meeting of the Delaware Valley Coin Club, Woodbury, N. J.

The quiz session will be called "What's My Coin" and will be conducted with a panel of five persons.

Members who wish to be contestants will select a coin, United States only, and keep its identity secret. They will also prepare a list of five clues which will help the panel identify their coin.

The panel must identify the coin from questions asked from the clues. Scores will be kept and the contestant who stumps the panel for the greatest number of points will be awarded a prize. A contestant will receive five points for each question asked and 10 points for each clue furnished.

The club meets in the Woodbury Presbyterian church, Broad and Center streets, Woodbury.

There are 25 members and 20 junior members. They meet the first Monday each month, 7:30 p.m., at the Monmouth courthouse building.

Present officers are: Allen Walters, president; Fred Bass, vice president; and Mrs. Leroy Whitman, secretary - treasurer. All are residents of Monmouth.

Large metal bricks, approximately three inches wide and six inches long, were one of the earliest types of money used in Ancient Rome. The bricks were stamped with a figure of a bull. The bull indicated the value.

PLASTIC ENVELOPES

Clear polyethylene, pliable and guaranteed not to crack or dry out. These long flap envelopes give maximum protection against chemical action which causes tarnish, spotting, etc. Coins can be displayed without exposure. Made to hold the large size Silver Dollar and most Crowns, but will still fit easily into a 2x2 envelope.

We are now using these for all our Uncirculated and Proof, as well as choice coins. Something collectors and dealers have been needing for years.

National Coin Week Displays Listed

Coin Club members over the country are eyeing the May 31 deadline for National Coin Week entries as they assemble point materials.

Mark Donner, Seattle, awards, chairman, said winners will be announced in The Numismatist. Winning reports will be on display at the Boston American Numismatic Association's convention in August.

The King Koal Coin Club of Bluefield, W. Va., arranged a display at the Flat Top National bank, according to Charles Duff, its president.

All the banks in Bismarck, N.D., carried coin displays during National Coin Week.

The New Castle (Pa.) Coin club—26 years old—headed by G. Duane Milnes featured a meeting, display and competition at the Y.M.C.A. with prizes for the best, best junior, best lady's and most unusual displays.

A nickel collection that won an award this year at the New Jersey Numismatic Association meeting was featured at the Marlton, N.J., First National bank. It was borrowed from Kenneth Yeager for National Coin Week.

The Marshall county Historical society museum in Plymouth, Ind., was the site of a coin-currency exhibit by collectors and dealers of that area. The county civil defense corps and special police provided round-the-clock protection for the collection that ranged over 2,000 years.

Club Hears Half Dollar Discussion

A discussion of half dollars from the first coinage in 1794 to the present Franklin halves by President Dale Weasner was featured at the Seymour (Ind.) Numismatic Society meeting held in the library of Swope memorial art gallery.

Weasner pointed out that the coins minted in 1796 and 1797 are rare, but the four half dollars coined by the New Orleans mint in 1838 are extremely rare with values up to over $700 each. He also discussed location of the mint marks.

William Willey, local coin dealer, talked on the changing values of key half dollar coins.

Silver dollars and U.S. currency is to be the topic of the next program.

Tragsdorf Named Convention Chairman

Bill Tragsdorf has been named chairman of the 27th semi-annual California state convention to be held at the U. S. Grant hotel in San Diego in the fall, according to an announcement by Paul Hamm, president of the San Diego Numismatic Society.

Tragsdorf is secretary of the San Diego organization.

The Jefferson nickel has no designers initials on it.

Monaco Issues New Coins

Two new coins issued by the Principality of Monaco, according to Interpol, are the one nouveau franc and the five nouveaux francs.

The francs conform to previous Monaco coinage with the profile of Prince Rainier III on the obverse. One coin reveals his right profile, the other his left.

Elaborate beaded crowns rest ornately at o p harlequin-type shields on the reverse. The coin denominations are indicated by a bold "1" and "5".

Interpol indicates that since January 1, 1960, 100 francs of the old issue are equivalent to one nouveau franc. These old issues include one, two, five, 10, 20, 50 and 100 francs.

The one nouveau franc is struck from nickel and weighs six grams; its new companion piece weighs

The one nouveau franc measures 24 millimeters, the five nouveaux 12 grams. It is of silver. franc coin, 29 millimeters.

Calif. Club Names 1959 Member Of Year

R. J. (Jack) Frost has been named 1959 member of the year by the East Bay Coin Club, Oakland, Calif.

The announcement was made by Don T. Thrall, recipient of the 1958 honor. Thrall acted as chairman of the awards committee.

In making the presentation, Thrall pointed out the many years of service Frost has given the club as corresponding secretary.

Thrall also stated, he has contributed to the enjoyment of all here, meaning the East Bay club, and in other clubs too by the very interesting and entertaining paper on the "Story of a Lincoln Cent." The paper traced the travels of a cent from the day it was made in 1909 to the present.

Celina-St. Marys Club Formed, Prexy Named

Coin collectors of the Celina and St. Marys, Ohio, area have organized a club which will be called the Tri County Coin Club.

During a recent meeting, the group elected Leonard Line of Wapakoneta as president and Dick Winklejohn and Bob Paulus, both of Celina, vice president and secretary-treasurer, respectively.

Nebraskans Meet

May 21 is the date of the next meeting for the Fremont, Nebr., Coin club, according to Carl Hansen, secretary-treasurer of the group.

North Platte guests joined the club members at a recent meeting, highlighted by an auction. A report on the recent state convention was made by Hansen.

The first steam coinage press was used in the mint in 1836.

'Proof' Defined In Club Paper

The term "proof," when applied to coins is believed to have originated with James Ross Snowden, director of the Mint, about 1858 when he first advertised proof sets for public sale, according to the May issue of the San Diego Numismatic Society's Bulletin.

Prior to that time, according to the Bulletin, the word "proof" had been referred to as specimen coins or m a s t e r coins. Their distribution was limited mostly to visiting dignitaries, local politicians, foreign governments, etc.

Copper Nickel Coinage Began During 1800's

Use of copper nickel alloys became quite popular during the latter 1800's.

The United States began using nickel in coinage in 1857 by using an alloy of 88 per cent copper and 12 percent nickel to make copper pennies.

In 1860, Belgium used the idea, and in 1881, Switzerland issued pure nickel coins. Each year thereafter more countries adopted the nickel alloy use. By 1939, over 100 countries had nickel alloy coinage.

idea and should go over with a bang.

Roy DeLong
Chester, W. Va.

Thanks for the sample copies. I must send in my subscription now so I don't miss a single copy. One "letter to the editor" asked if it would be possible for you to print weekly the mintage of the different coins. I think that is the finest idea yet. It would sell subscriptions to every dealer and collector in the States.

Perry Tallman
Austin, Minn.

(Editor's Note—The coinage reports from the mint are issued monthly and it is impossible to get weekly reports at the present time. Coin World gives its readers the mintage reports in a new form, never before attempted.

(These reports are presented cumulative by months as fast as the U.S. Mint issues the figures. An additional feature is the comparison with the same months of the previous year by mints and by pieces.

(We do not carry this form every week as our regular subscribers will get it at the first possible date it comes from the mint. We would rather use that space to give our news-hungry readers additional coin information and not be too repetitious—unless there is a great demand for it.)

Your sample copies of Coin World are what I have wanted to see in a coin paper for a long time. The way you have set up the classified section according to kind of coins rather than mixing them up is certainly the best.

George E. Meyer
Saybrook, Ill.

The price of silver would have to rise to $1.39 per ounce before the mint would lose money striking dimes, quarters, and halves.

Enclosed is my subscription. Sure think your paper is tops. That Jim Kelly section is something we have needed for a long time; maybe it will settle a few arguments. Your paper should be here for a long time to come.

Rud. Rajsky
San Diego, Calif.

I want to thank you for the privilege of being a charter subscriber. I have been repaid many times already on sales and purchases through your advertisers. May you continue to grow.

Numismatics Offers Many Challenges, Ways To Learn

By Wilson Morgan
The Durham Sun

DURHAM, N. C., (Special to Coin World) — One of the most popular of all hobbies is that of collecting old coins and currency. This hobby not only offers a fascinating sideline challenge, but for many has proven a delightful way to learn the history of the countries that their coins represent.

There is a group of numismatists here in Durham that took their special hobby so much to heart, they formed the Durham Coin club three years ago.

Through this club which today is about 45 members strong, the local numismatists joined the approximately 24,000 other coin collectors who comprise the American Numismatic Association.

Heading the local organization are V. J. Ashbaugh Sr., president; Ed Plonski, vice president, and J. B. Harris, secretary-treasurer. There are about 15 coin clubs throughout North Carolina.

One of the most intriguing aspects of becoming a numismatist is the many interesting anecdotes of historical significance that are discovered from time to time as a new coin or bill is acquired. Some of these are as follows:

Spencer Colby, who was the first chief of the National Currency bureau, is said to be responsible for the fact that no living person is ever represented on a piece of money in this country. Seems that while in office in 1861, he had his own likeness placed on a five-cent paper bill, and folks didn't take to the idea very kindly. Result: Congress promptly passed a bill prohibiting such personal recognition.

There were many issues of fractional currency, or paper bills with denominations of less than a dollar, published back during the Civil War days because coins became scarce from hoarding.

The United States has issued one, two, three and five-cent coins and even half-dimes, but never a four-cent coin or a half nickel.

In 1883, a "V" nickel without the word "cents" on either side was issued. Many enterprising individuals made the most of this oversight by hoarding the coins, gold-plating them, and then putting them back into circulation as five-dollar gold pieces.

It so happened that there was a five-dollar gold piece of approximately the same size and general design already in circulation at the time. Subsequently, the "V" nickel of that year came to be known as the "racketeer" nickel.

An uproar was created in 1917, especially among religious groups, when a "standing Liberty" quarter was issued which showed Miss Liberty holding high the torch of freedom without the benefit of any clothing covering the upper portion of her shapely body.

The coin quickly came to be known as "indecent," but the U.S. mint promptly corrected their "mistake" and in the next year's issue of quarters added a blouse to the famous lady's attire.

The two most common ways of collecting coins are by denomination and type set. In the denominational type of collecting, the coins are collected by dates and mint marks in the same denomination until one of every issue of every mint has been acquired.

"Type" sets consist of one coin of each type or basic design but with slight variations in either the design or material used. For example, there is a "V" nickel on the back of which there is a design of a circle of rays separated by a circle of stars. Another issue shows the same design on both sides with the exception of the rays, which were left off.

Paper money is collected by series of issue numbers and types of notes. The collection of paper bills of all ages and denominations (other than for spending) in itself makes for still another fascinating area of study in the hobby of numismatics.

Of course, one has to apply himself to some degree in order to become knowledgeable of the many fascinating details regarding what coin or bill is valuable as a collector's item and those which are not. If you know any of these details, check the bills or coins in your pocket — you might have just the piece that everyone is looking for. And even if you haven't, you'll probably feel within yourself a spark of interest which could well be the early stages of "numismatic fever."

Florida Club Hears Convention Report

A report on the Florida United Numismatist convention was given for the Clearwater (Fla.) Coin Club's May meeting.

A 1909 Lincoln cent was awarded to Chris Baertkus as a special prize.

Money with special value—The vice president of the Durham (N. C.) Coin Club, Ed Plonski, is shown displaying part of his collection of old and rare coins and fractional currency. Plonski is holding for comparison today's 50-cent coin with a small paper bill of fractional currency with the same face value issued nearly 100 years ago. Immediately in front of Plonski in the background at the left is a display of Liberty standing quarters, while at the right is a display of Mercury dimes. In the foreground is a collection of small value coins behind another 50 cent bill. (Sun Staff photo.)

Coin Collecting Bank President Interests Whole Family

A coin collecting bank president who has his whole family interested—Carlisle Rogers, head of the Leesburg, Fla., First National bank—is an example of how to win a and influence numismatists!

"I have tried to encourage the youngsters in coin collection when I found it to be not only good as a hobby, but one in which I can relax and anticipate future dividends at the same time," said Rogers.

Club Gives Proof Sets As Special Prize

A 1960 proof set will be given as a prize for 23 meetings this year when the Augusta (Ga.) Numismatic Society meets. Purpose of the prize is to expand attendance and membership.

Membership includes 25 adults and 6 juniors, who meet the second and fourth Monday of each month. Meetings are held at 7:30 p.m. in the Penthouse Club room of the First Federal Savings Building, 10th and Broad streets.

Officers, elected in March, are: Dr. R. A. Reich, Augusta, president; Martin Hertz, Grovetown, Ga., vice president; Cecil Collins, Augusta, treasurer; and Neil Ghingold, Augusta, secretary.

In commenting upon coin collecting as a family hobby, Rogers said his son, Jim, is a three-year veteran in the field.

"When Mrs. Rogers found among her Indian head cents an 1877 it really got the show on the road!" he said.

Included in the Rogers collection are $5 and $10 national currency which were issued by the First National bank of Leesburg in the early 30's, bearing the signatures of Rogers as Cashier and G. G. Ware as president.

It goes without saying, the First National bank observed National Coin Week with a display.

This was highlighted by coins owned by Cleveland M. Kuharske of Groveland. His 1885 and 1883 proof sets along with liberty head and shield nickel proof sets attracted unusual attention. The Spanish 11 real pieces of eight and the Spanish doubloon caught the eyes of the youngsters.

The Rogers family display included gold pieces and proof sets as well as 3, 5, 10, 15, 25 and 50 cent currency. They included the currency with the Rogers signature.

"I am amazed to find out that many people had never seen gold coins or fractional currency," Rogers commented.

Jimmy Rogers is showing his father, Carlisle Rogers, president of the First National bank, Leesburg, Fla., his new 1960 mint sealed proof set. In the display case are proof and gold coins together with fractional currency owned by Cleveland M. Kuharske, of Groveland, and the Rogers family.

New Netherlands Auction Trends

Rare and choice conditioned early coins command run-a-way prices, as do the rarer mintmarks up to 1891. Choice conditioned Liberty seated silver brings below what it should.

—Proofs. Tend to show considerable weakness, the closer they approach 1915. Early proofs are popular and strong; but the series has lost much of its 1957 power.

—Barber coins. Have trouble bringing their Guidebook valuations. Selected dates and mintmarks in this group display considerable strength, however.

—Large cents. They brought excellent prices!

—Canadian. Did remarkably well, suggesting that the non-decimal series are on the move back to the top billing they enjoyed years ago. Canadian items of any series are unusually strong property.

Special Medal Received Years Late By Jackson

Andrew Jackson was several years late in receiving a medal awarded him by Congress.

Jackson won a Congressional Medal for his part in the 1812 victory in battle of New Orleans. However, he didn't supply the engraver with his portrait until 1824. At that time he announced his candidacy for President.

After announcing his political intentions, Jackson's supporters struck small brass medals resembling his Congressional medal. The Jackson tokens were holed, strung with ribbon and worn as campaign buttons — the first in existence.

HISTORY - ECONOMICS - Numismatics. Willem, John M.: "The United States Trade Dollar - America's Only Unhonored, Unwanted Coin." A fascinating history of the use of silver coinage in world trade, and why the United States, in the bonanza silver period of the 1870s, minted a special silver dollar actually called the Trade Dollar. Intended for use in the Orient, it was, for a time, legal tender in the United States and a hot political issue until 1887. Fully illustrated, 216 pp., and heavily annotated for historian, economist and numismatist. Limited edition, $10.00 postpaid. Copies numbered and signed by author. John M. Willem, Jr., 1120 Fifth Avenue, New York 28, New York.

... with a New Kind of COIN ALBUM

THE LIBRARY OF COINS

Complete visibility and complete protection, the two most-wanted features of a coin album, are presented for the first time by THE LIBRARY OF COINS. Bound like books, handsome and compact, each Library of Coins volume displays and protects its coins between two sliding panels of clear, tough plastic. Each coin "porthole" has printed next to it full data on mint mark and quantity minted. Each volume contains a brief background story on the coins, giving both the novice and advanced collector helpful information, including a listing of the rare dates.

Measuring 8 1/4" x 6 1/4", the volumes are low priced, sturdily manufactured, and permanently bound in a variety of identifying colors for the various denominations. Their compact size permits the storing of a large coin collection in very small space. Backbones are clearly gold stamped so that they are as readily identifiable as are books.

The Library of Coins represents the first major innovation in high grade coin albums in more than 30 years, and was several years in development. Designed by numismatists, the Library of Coins is designed to satisfy the needs and desires of numismatists. Write for descriptive circular on the Library of Coins.

Our albums and books are available at your local coin dealer, stamp dealer, book store, hobby shop or at department store coin counters.

Dealers are invited to send for our Wholesale Price List, using their business stationery and furnishing suitable credit references as to their commercial status.
